Shady Side Academy
Summer Professional Development

Teaching during a pandemic presents us with many challenges but also many opportunities. Since its inception, Shady Side Academy has been known for engaging students in a quality education that prepares them for their future. Though the circumstances under which we are called to educate our students has changed, our mission remains the same.

In order to adapt to these new circumstances, we are called to examine all the aspects of our practice. The environment in which we teach is changing rapidly and our best response is to take a posture of continuous improvement. This summer, there will be many opportunities for you to continue to expand your expertise by participating in a plethora of professional development opportunities.We remain committed to supporting and developing our students and providing them with the best possible learning experience.

Your Challenge

Develop a personalized professional development plan that will support and enhance your pedagogical skill development.

Phase I : Empathize and Discover

Reflecting on Distance Learning 2.0 & the evolving education landscape:

1. Using the following Questions, brainstorm possible areas of growth you would like to target.
    - What was important to your students during distance learning?
    - Were there areas/skills your students struggled with during distance learning?
    - What elements of your remote teaching would you like to incorporate into your standard best practices?
        - What elements would you like or need time and/or assistance to build on?
    - Looking at distance learning or a hybrid model for the Fall, what would you like to incorporate that you weren't able to this spring?
        - What elements did you not have the time or resources to explore as we pivoted to distance learning?

2. Prioritize the areas you identified.

-- Connect with other faculty to form a PD team (optional but encouraged)

Phase II: Define

Select the focus area(s) below that align with your areas of growth. This summer, your professional development must align with one of the 5 main focus areas below. (Assessment, Social-Emotional Learning & Student Support, Platform Skill Advancement, Content Creation, Differentiation)

Assessment (in a hybrid model)	Social-Emotional Learning & Student Support	Platform Skill Advancement	Content Creation	Differentiation
• Formative • Summative • Techniques	• Well Being • Promotion of Health • SEL in a Digital Space	• Canvas • Seesaw • Google • Zoom • Swivl	• Design • Creativity & Creation • Sustaining Engagement • Digital Learning Best Practices	• Simplification/ Extensions • Personalized Learning • Voice & Choice

Phase III: Research & Brainstorm

Choose a professional development opportunity that will best support continued growth within your identified skill sets.

Possible PD Opportunities
*View the website for a collective list organized by Focus Area.

You are encouraged to also seek out and share PD opportunities that are outside of the ones listed on the website.

Phase IV: Ideate

Create a written summary explaining the structure and content of the program you would like to attend (beyond the description that is on the program's website).

Phase V. Develop

Using the information from each step, submit the application for approval.

Once approved, register for and complete the professional development opportunity

Application Form

VI. Apply & Reflect

Submit your learning outcome as identified in the application along with a brief reflection on your growth. Once the final submission form is received, the per diem will be processed.

Final Submission Form

Outcome Examples:

- Redesign of a lesson or project
- Learning Pathways for a unit or lesson
- Collection of curated resources & how you might utilize them
- Planning for the implementation of pedagogy knowledge/skill sets
- Follow-up plan for sharing and/or collaboration with colleagues
- Curriculum redesign
- Assessment or learning resource example
- Application of an instructional approach or expanded skill sets
- Goals for knowledge application, etc.

Learn & Earn

To encourage faculty to take advantage of professional development opportunities to further develop their distance learning pedagogy, Shady Side Academy will cover the cost of registration and materials and provide a per diem for approved programs. The per diem is based on the time spent engaging in professional development:

- $50 for a program that is designed for 2-3 hours of work (no compensation for under 1 hour)
- $100 for a program that is designed for 4-6 hours of work.

In order to receive the per diem, a faculty member must submit the application form with a written summary that includes a paragraph explaining the structure and content of the program (beyond the description that is on the program's website) and one paragraph explaining how they plan to use the information learned. Faculty must also complete the learning outcome (as identified in the application).
